

October 1, 2026

NEXT Compression Announces Leadership Transition

NEXT Compression is pleased to announce an important leadership transition as the company enters its next chapter.

Effective October 1st, Shane Guiltner has retired from his role as President of NEXT Compression, and Alyssa Guiltner has officially assumed the role of President.

While October 1st marks the official transition, the succession has been several years in the making. Alyssa has progressively taken on responsibility for the leadership and direction of NEXT, working closely with Shane and the Senior Leadership Team to ensure continuity for the business, its employees and its customers.

For NEXT, this is not a sudden change in direction, but the next step in a planned leadership transition.

Shane's Impact on NEXT

Shane has played an instrumental role in building NEXT into the company it is today. Under his leadership, NEXT has grown its capabilities, customer relationships and presence within the compression industry while maintaining a strong focus on its people and the values at the core of the organization.

Although Shane is retiring from the President role, he is not stepping away from NEXT entirely. He will continue to provide his experience and insight to the business, now as Alyssa's father and advisor, rather than her boss.

"I have had the unique opportunity to not only watch Shane build NEXT, but to work alongside him and learn from him for many years," said Alyssa. "I have an incredible amount of respect for what he has built, the relationships he has created and the way he has led this business. I know how fortunate I am to have had him as both a dad and a mentor, and I am equally grateful that retirement from the President role doesn't mean I stop getting his advice. I am excited to build on what he started and take NEXT into its next chapter."

Looking Ahead

Over the past several years, Alyssa has played an increasingly significant role in the strategic direction of NEXT, leading key initiatives across the business while working closely with employees, customers and industry partners. Her leadership has helped position the company for continued growth and long-term success. As President, Alyssa will continue to build on the foundation established at NEXT while focusing on the company's next stage of growth and development.

NEXT's core values and commitment to its people, customers, safety, quality and long term relationships will remain central to the business.

"I am genuinely excited about what is ahead for NEXT," said Alyssa. "We have a great team, strong customer relationships and a tremendous amount of opportunity in front of us. My focus is on building on what has made NEXT successful while continuing to challenge ourselves, improve and move the company forward."

For customers, vendors and industry partners, the transition provides continuity while ensuring NEXT continues to evolve alongside the needs of its customers and the industry.

October 1st marks an important milestone for Shane, Alyssa and the entire NEXT team, celebrating the foundation that has been built and the beginning of the next chapter for NEXT Compression.